

MEET THE RADSOC COMMITTEE

RICHARD GREED
(Former Radley don)
President

We are thrilled to welcome Richard Greed (RMCG) as the new President of the RadSoc Committee. With 29 years of experience at Radley, serving as a don, Tutor, and Master in Charge of Rugby, Richard has deep connections to the Radley community. As President, he will serve as a dedicated ambassador for RadSoc, working to foster stronger ties, engage the community, and highlight the importance of RadSoc's mission.

WILL BAILEY
(1968, D)

Years on committee: 35
Expertise: Events, OR Sports

I like staying in touch with Radley and being part of the RadSoc 'family'.

SAM MELLUISH MBE
(1976, B)
Chairman

Years on committee: 35
Expertise: Investment management – managing funds and client service in public and private equities.

It's great to be continually involved with the school and meet old friends and new across the many events that we organise. The whole community has benefitted hugely from the Radleian Society and being involved with that makes me very proud.

PADDY LANGDALE
(2013, A)
Treasurer

Years on committee: 2
Expertise: Accountancy, Sports

After five brilliant years at Radley, it's great to give something back to the College and support the Committee as independent education navigates its way through some challenging times ahead.

MAX BLANSHARD
(2004, B)

Years on committee: 8
Expertise: Academia, Life Sciences, Entrepreneurship, Venture Capital

Staying engaged with the College and OR community is brilliant, and I enjoy supporting at events across London.

ROSIE JENKINS
(Radley Parent)

Years on committee: 1
Expertise: Recruitment, HR

I have enjoyed meeting the members of the RadSoc Committee and finding out firsthand how RadSoc is supporting ORs and current boys aged 16- 25 with networking, work experience, internships and supporting the boys with their early careers.

JAMES PRICHETT
(2001, F)

Years on committee: 1
Expertise: Marketing, Communications, Business

The Committee is an interesting and dynamic group of like-minded people and the meetings are enjoyable. I first got involved with Radley for Life, a LinkedIn group to try and help ORs and the younger generations. Now I'm part of RadSoc, that's exactly what we do, amongst other things, but we have much more focus and ability to deliver on these objectives.

PATRICK MCMEEKIN
(1999, B)

Years on committee: 8
Expertise: Entrepreneurship, Sports, Technology

It's great fun keeping connected to College whilst living vicariously through the various sports societies, empowering them to flourish & grow deeper roots within the OR community.

HENRY MORRIS
(1996, E)

Years on committee: 5
Expertise: Public equity investing

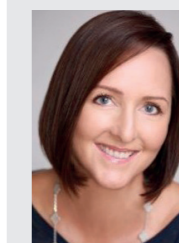

It's brilliant to have the chance to meet so many friendly and interesting people and to reconnect with Radley and hear the really great work that College and RadSoc are doing.

SIMON PERKINS
(1978, E)

Years on committee: 1
Expertise: Real Estate

I like hearing more about the wide range of interesting activities that RadSoc is now engaged with.

JOANNA THOMPSON
(Radley parent)

Years on committee: 1
Expertise: Investment, Fundraising, Entrepreneurship

I love the confluence of ideas, the robust debate and the honest reflection. I enjoy the entrepreneurial approach taken in these meetings, challenging existing ideas and beliefs, and exploring new opportunities to serve the diverse needs of the community at different ages and stages of their lives.

JO ROOTH
(1985, E)

Years on committee: 11
Expertise: Strategy, Governance, Business

It's been highly fulfilling to play a part in the development of the Radley Business Network, from its inception in 2008 as a LinkedIn group through to its current programme of events, mentoring and networking opportunities.

STRUAN RIDGWELL
(1984, B)

Years on committee: 8
Expertise: Global Markets, International Community, Business

It's great to have the opportunity to discuss and develop events and structures that allow Radleians and parents to socialise, network and help the alumni to succeed in life after Radley.
